USAID funded Urban Health Project	IPE Global has won a five year USAID contract that focuses on Ending Preventable Maternal and Child Deaths among India’s Urban Poor. The goal of the current intervention is to facilitate Inclusive Business Models (IBMs) for addressing primary health care needs of urban poor. Thereby, reducing preventable morbidity and mortality among women and children in urban areas through improved access to affordable, quality RMNCH+A services and better health seeking behaviour. The intended intervention outcomes are: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Increased access to affordable quality primary health care ensured for 10 million urban poor 2. Out of Pocket (OOP) Expenditure for urban poor for primary health care reduced by 30% in intervention areas The program team proposes to achieve the above mentioned objectives by - <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 3. Providing Catalytic Support to IBMs for delivering affordable and quality primary health care at scale with a coverage of 10 million urban poor 4. Setting up Impact Investment Funds on returnable capital model to support scale-up by IBMs in the urban health care space (explore potential use of CSR funding) 5. Develop and support adoption of innovative and sustainable demand side financing models (pre-pay, community insurance, deferred payments, etc.) so that there is capacity to pay from the user groups, especially the poor 6. Improve awareness and health seeking behaviour of urban poor through use of technology aimed at increasing utilization of preventive health interventions. 7. Explore potential uses of eHealth to ensure affordable and quality services. 8. Work with national, state and local governments for better regulatory regime focused on improving the enabling environment and ease of doing business for IBMs While the program would look to work with the urban poor in four states of India – Uttar Pradesh, Madhya Pradesh, Rajasthan and Delhi, other high burden MNH states could also be considered. Overall, the intervention design will aim to have 10,000,000 (Ten Million) direct beneficiaries during the (next 4-5 years) program period through scale up of existing IBM models.
